NAACP Boosts Reward at L. R.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The reward fund in Little Rock's latest bombing case grew to $2,716 yesterday with a $216 grant from the Little Rock branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

The money will go to anyone giving information leading to an arrest in the bombing at the home of a Negro student last Tuesday. Earlier, the Chamber of Commerce posted a $2,500 reward.

Meanwhile police continue working in secrecy on the bombing which caused minor damage at the home of Charlotte Walls, 18. She is one of the five Negro students attending Little Rock Central High School.

Police would say only that there have been no arrests.

No one was injured in the blast, the first reported attack on a Negro student.

The Chamber of Commerce pledged $25,000 last September in the city's Labor Day bombings. So far, no claimant has been announced.

The offices of the school board and the mayor and the cur of the fire chief were hit in the earlier bombings. Five men were arrested. One pleaded guilty, three were convicted and a fifth still faces trial.

Hospital Board Upheld at Camden

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today upheld the board of Ouachita General Hospital at Hot Springs in a dispute with Garland County Judge H. C. Warren over a land purchase.

The high court held that the board of the county-owned hospital acted within its authority when it paid a member, Dr. George C. Coffey, $15,000 for a plot of ground for expansion of the institution.

The court was critical of the fact that board member Hill Wheatley collected $100 interest on a note in connection with the transaction.

But the opinion said Wheatley was entitled to keep the money as it represented only simple interest at a rate which was not excessive.

Warren charged that the board illegally used public funds to make the purchase.

The Supreme Court said the purchase money came from a single fund made up both of taxes and of fees from paying patients.

Justice Jim Johnson, speaking for the unanimous court, ruled that no tax money was used since the total fund never fell below the amount realized from fees.

He suggested, however, that it would be advisable to keep the funds in separate accounts.

Warren charged that the money paid for the land should have been appropriated by the Garland County Quorum Court, over which he now presides.

By decision the Supreme Court affirmed Chancellor Sam W. Garrett of Hot Springs, who dismissed a suit by which Warren sought to invalidate the land purchase.

Still pending on appeal is a companion ruling by Garrett that there was nothing improper in a hospital laundry contract which a board member got by competitive bidding.

Warren asked the board to resign when he took office in January, 1959.

The board refused.

Warren followed with the law suits and fired the board.

Circuit Judge P. E. Dobbs said Warren had authority for the firing, but he permitted the board to remain in office pending an appeal.

This appeal also is before the Supreme Court.

11 Persons Meet Death by Violence

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eleven persons died violently in Arkansas during the week ending at midnight Sunday.

Four died in traffic mishaps, four in weather-related accidents, and one each in a fire and a shooting.

Louis King of Mountain Home was killed Saturday as a fallen tree he was pushing with a bulldozer reared over the machine and crushed him against the seat.

William Churchwell, 25, of Bradford, was killed about midnight Saturday in a collision of his car and a tractor-trailer on Highway 64 about three miles south of Bradford.

A passenger in Churchwell's car Billy Gene Hensley, 23, also of Bradford, was injured seriously. John Thomas Rambo, 45, of Little Rock, died yesterday at Hazen of carbon monoxide poisoning. Apparently he sat beside the exhaust pipe of a parked truck to keep warm in below-freezing temperatures.

Fred Simmons, 50 year old Negro timber worker, was found the Connecticut shoreline.

Gale warnings remained displayed from Cape Hatteras, N.C., to Eastport, Maine. The sleet which pelted New England areas changed to snow as colder air swept into the storm belt.

Pennsylvania, which had an unofficial snowfall of 20 inches in Bradford, reported 9 deaths attributed to the stormy weather.

The South also counted a heavy toll in storm deaths, including 7 in Virginia, which was hit by snowfalls up to 16 inches. Other deaths included 5 in New York; 3 each in Tennessee, Ohio and Kentucky; 2 in North Carolina and 1 each in Louisiana, Mississippi, Massachusetts and New Jersey.

Melton Ends All Speculation

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Marvin W. Melton of Jonesboro has ended speculation that he might run for governor in this summer's primaries.

Melton, state Chamber of Commerce president, said in a statement that many people had urged him to run for governor, but that he would not.

He said when he became Chamber president "I had no intention of involving the Chamber in politics and have none at this time."

At present, Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett is the only candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Gov. Orval E. Faubus has not revealed his plans, but is considered likely to seek an unprecedented fourth term as governor.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bigham

The First Christian Church of Whittier, Calif., was the setting for the marriage of Judith Ann Bigham and Richard Bigham.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in an original floorlength princess gown of ivory satin with appliques of alencon lace. A ten point pearl queen's crown caught up the fingerling illusion veil and she carried a cascade of white roses and chrysanthemums tied with velvet ropes and intermingled with pearls. She wore a pearl drop at her throat, a gift of the groom.

The groom is the grandson of Mrs. W. L. Porter and Mrs. Kate Bennett and the great grandson of Mrs. Sallie Kate Burnett all of Hope.

Scouts Celebrate

NEW YORK (AP) — Some 50 Buy Scouts—one from each state in the Union—today wrap up a year commemorating the 50th year of Scouting. The tour took them to Washington, the Scout Museum at New Brunswick, N.J., the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., and New York City.

Things got so mixed up Wednesday, for instance, that an afternoon rehearsal was called — and nobody remembered until the cast was assembled, that guest star Henry Fonda was missing because it was matinee day and he's appearing on Broadway in a play.

Confusion, noise and cold coffee in cardboard containers, however, roll off the plaid shoulders of Allen's sports jacket. What get under his skin, are such larger concerns as continued testing of nuclear weapons, America's lack of interest in good literature and NBC's recent refusal to let him insert a serious philosophical conversation spang in the middle of his weekly musical variety show.

Allen insists that he isn't worried about his shows' ratings or what will happen to it next year. "I've already told the network that I will not be available for a weekly show next season," he says. "I'll do two out of three or three out of four, but not every week."

"Getting out of the Sunday night spot was my own doing—NBC wanted me to do a 90-minute show there and I wouldn't. I said I'd just go to some other night—but one of our problems with Mondays is that we have a low-rated show right ahead of us."

DOROTHY DIX

Wilful Friend Own Worst Enemy

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I have two girl friends. The younger is going to have a baby by a boy she does not love and will not marry, even though he is willing. He loves her but will have nothing to do with an abortion nor give her the money to pay for it.

She asked me if she could borrow $75. I agreed. A few days later she told me all. I do not want to give her the money but don't want to lose her friendship. She says if she cannot get the operation, she will kill herself.

My second girl friend and I both want to do the right thing. Should we tell our friend's mother? If anything happened to the poor girl, we would feel responsible.

About a year ago the mother made her stop seeing a boy who had a bad reputation. The girl took an overdose of sleeping tablets and, as a result, underwent psychiatric treatments. Help us make the right decision! — In-a-Quandry

Dear In-a-Quandry: Your girl friend is her own worst enemy. If her psychiatrist helped her once, he can do so again. See him, not the girl's mother. Also give her my leaflet, Is There a Test for Love? It is yours for a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

"I've finally found 'the one man' except for one thing. He shuts off right in the middle of a kiss, as though afraid. He's a college graduate, veteran marine world traveler and desirable to women. Until he met me, he was a confirmed bachelor. He never stops telling me he loves me but — he can resist me. The position he wants is three years off and he's in no hurry to marry. Should a girl wait that long? — Frustrated

Dear Frustrated: I suspect your dawning bachelor will either remain a bachelor all his life or be an unsatisfactory husband for some normal woman like you.

Do get yourself a real honest-to-goodness man with all the normal reactions to love. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, Are You Sure It's Love?

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I have never been had thought I did run with girls of bad repute. I also went with two nice boys, but they changed after joining a gang. I quit them. Now we've moved to a different neighborhood. I met a nice respectable boy with whom I fell in love. Suddenly he quit coming for no reason so far as I know. Then we started dating again. But a few weeks ago everyone started lying about me including his sister and my sister. Most people believe them. Please print this for the sake of others who have my problem — Troubled

Dear Troubled: I'm afraid it's been a case of "guilt-by-association." The company you kept fed fodder to the gossip. Be circumspect, industrious and courageous — your best self. Only then can you confidently look gossip in the eyes and laugh at their lying remarks. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my "Teen-Age Code."

Send your pellem to Dorothy Dix. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her in care of this newspaper.

Porkers Defeat TCU But Title Chances Slim

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Southwest Conference basketball race, with Texas A&M in an uncomfortable driver's seat, heads into the stretch this week.

The Aggies pushed past the half-way mark with a full game lead as they defeated Texas Tech 69-65. It leaves Texas and Southern Methodist tied for second and gives Texas a golden opportunity Tuesday night at Austin.

The Longhorns meet the Aggies with a chance of gaining a tie for the lead. It could become a three-day affair because Southern Methodist meets Rice the same night at Houston.

Texas A&M has a 7-1 record while Southern Methodist and Texas each are 6-2.

Only two teams—Texas Christian and Rice—have been eliminated from Championship consideration although Baylor, Arkansas and Texas Tech boast only an outside chance.

Texas A&M, now in the championship favorite, but the Aggies must play four of their remaining six games on the road, two of them against the strongest contenders—Texas and SMU.

The Aggies whipped Arkansas 77-68 and Rice 94-53 last week while Southern Methodist was downing Rice 66-52 but falling before Texas. Texas whipped Texas Tech 75-66 before taking care of SMU.

Arkansas and Texas Tech play at Fayetteville Tuesday night. Baylor and Texas Christian tangle at Fort Worth Wednesday. Saturday night finds Texas A&M hosting Arkansas, Southern Methodist or, depending on Texas Christian, Texas Tech at Lubbock and Baylor taking on Rice at Waco.

The highest scoring teams in the conference will be getting together at Austin Tuesday night.

Bobcats Drop District Game to Arkadelphia

By TEDDY JONES JR.

Hope's senior boys dropped a 4AA Conference battle by a score of 55-45 in a tussle with the Arkadelphia Badgers in a game played at there Saturday night. The Hope Juniors romped over the Hope Badgers to the tune of 38-17 in a preliminary game.

In the senior game Arkadelphia played a consistent game, leading 10-3 in the first quarter, 36-14 at the half, 41-30 at the end of the third and ended the game with a 55-45 score.

Tony McMillan was the games top scorer and the Badger big gun with 20 points. Larry Vaughn of Hope was runnerup for the scoring honors with 12. Other Hope scorers were Smiley, Calhoun, scoring 8 each, Thurman with 5, Walton with 4, Erwin with 3, Walters and Duke had 2 each and Churchwell scoring 1.

In a game played earlier this season the Cats defeated the Badgers 57-44, but in that game McMillan scored only 6 points.

The Junior game found the Bob Kiltens holding a lead throughout the contest. Halftime score was 19-3 and the final tally was 38-17. High scorer for Hope was Murphy with 12, tying for runner up honors were Porterfield of Hope and Echols of Arkadelphia with 10 each.

Next Friday night the Jr. and Sr. Boys meet the Smackover Bucks in a pair of games to be played at Smackover.

College Play Near March 'Madness'

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

College basketball powers, heading toward their annual March madness, move tonight into a three-week production subtitled "Impress the Tournament Committees."

Formally, seven of the 12 berths in the National Invitation Tournament and all but two of 12 possible at-large spots in the National Collegiate Championships are open.

Informally, the teams who don't qualify by winning conference championships are battling for only a handful of places with many of them pegged for announcement to tournament places within the next week or so.

The NIT, for instance, is sure to name defending champion St. John's (N.Y.) and streaking St. Bonaventure — perhaps today — as additions to a field that already includes Dayton, Villanova, Detroit, Memphis State and Providence.

It's also next to a cinch that the NIT is holding open two places for runners-up in the Skyline and Missouri Valley conferences which send their league winners into the NCAA, and probably a spot for either St. Joseph's (Pa.) or La Salle, whichever loses out in the race to represent the Middle Atlantic Conference in the NCAA.

Cincinnati and Bradley, running one-two in the nation while sharing the Missouri Valley Conference lead, each have one league game this week — Cincinnati at Houston Saturday and Bradley at North Texas State the same night.

Olympics Down to Real Business

By BOB MERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The 56th session of the International Olympic Committee gets down to serious business today to deal with cases involving the upcoming winter games at Squaw Valley and the summer games at Rome.

Up for immediate debate, was the latest international hot potato dropped into the August IOC laps by President Avery Brundage.

The wealthy Chicago boss of the IOC proposes that national flags and hymns be eliminated from future Olympic ceremonies.

Varied and vociferous was the reaction here and at Squaw Valley, where the 1960 winter games start Thursday.

Brundage started the controversy two days ago when the IOC sessions opened in San Francisco's War Memorial Opera House.

Contestants, he said, "should come simply as sportsmen and not as representatives of a country."

IOC Chancellor Otto Mayer of Switzerland said that with some variation he agreed with Brundage.

NLR Wildcats Continue Winning

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Little Rock Central and Blytheville stand in the way this week as North Little Rock goes for the Big Nine Conference basketball championship.

The Wildcats, 12-0 in league play, go against Central tomorrow night, then meet the second-place Chicks Friday night in North Little Rock. Victories in both games would clinch the tie.

Both Blytheville and Fort Smith have hopes for the title, but in order to retain them Blytheville must beat North Little Rock Friday night.

The Northsiders still would have to lose one more before Blytheville could tie, and two more before third-place Fort Smith (8-3) could tie.

Blytheville is 10-2 in league play. The Chicks meet Little Rock Thursday night in Little Rock, then cross the river for the bout with North Little Rocks Wildcats.

Fort Smith visits Hot Springs tomorrow night and plays host to Central Rock Hall Friday night.

Central could tie for the championship if North Little Rock loses its last four, which is highly unlikely. The Wildcats have a 19-1 season record and have won 18 straight since losing to Leachville in an early-season encounter.

They are the favorites in the coming Class AA-AAA Tournament at Blytheville.

BIG NINE STANDINGS:

This Week's Schedule:
Tuesday: Central at North Little Rock, Fort Smith at Hot Springs.

Thursday: Blytheville at Hall, Friday: Blytheville at North Little Rock, Hall at Fort Smith, Hot Springs at El Dorado, Pine Bluff at Texarkana.

Saturday: Texarkana at Central, Sheridan at Pine Bluff, El Dorado at Crossett.

Fourth consecutive Eastern Division championship in the National Basketball Assn.

Red Auerbach's band of precisionists cut off Philadelphia's last threat over the weekend by sweeping a two-game series and lengthening their lead over the runnerup Warriors to eight games with only 14 left to play.

Chamberlain, who sat out Saturday's 122-120 loss, returned to the line-up Sunday after having some teeth extracted.

The 7-foot-1 Still, who established an NBA single-season scoring record last week, popped in 25 points and broke the league's one-season rebound mark, but the better-balanced Celtics romped to a 125-115 victory.

In other Sunday games, the Western Division leading St. Louis Hawks moved out to a 12-game lead over Detroit with a 107-105 victory over Cincinnati, and Syracuse edged Minneapolis 121-119 on Dolph Schayes layup with three seconds left.

The runner-up Pistons had an opportunity to gain on St. Louis Saturday but dropped a 123-117 overtime decision to Minneapolis while the Hawks were being thumped by New York 122-104.

A project, which proved to be interesting, was a panel discussion during the family relations unit. The girls has studied proper dating, money management, going steady, member's responsibility and other phases. The tenth grade FHA boys joined in several of the discussions.

As a result of class study in child development, the Home Economics III girls are planning a panel discussion with Junior and Senior NFA boys.

Another unit that proved interesting for the Home Ec II girls was "A House to fit the Family." Beautiful curtains of cotton khaki broadcloth have been made for the dressing room and the lunch room. Plans for living room draperies are in progress.

Clothing construction classes will begin soon. The chapter plans to provide a broader homeing program for Washington. The 38 7th and 8th grade girls were given letters to carry home to their parents to read and sign and return. The girls make cookies for the lunchroom weekly. Much improvement and skill are being developed in this project.

Walking Out on a Show Is Catching

By FRED DANZIG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — That's show biz.

Years from now, I imagine, we'll all sit around and tell our grandchildren about the night in history when Jack Paar seceded from television.

He just got up and walked away—after a fearful defense of his conduct on the show, a sip of water, a handshake for Hugh Downs.

I recall that just a day earlier, Henry Morgan staged a brief walkout on "I've Got a Secret," after a guest kidded him about his age. Henry came back after being soothed by Betsy Palmer and Bess Myerson. Perhaps NBC-TV boss Bob Kintner should borrow Bess and Betsy from CBS and send them on another bring-'em-back-alive mission.

As we all know, Paar's walkout resulted from NBC-TV's decision to cut some latrine humor from his Wednesday night show. Paar, who delivered a tearful defense of his conduct years ago on another TV network, demonstrated that he hasn't matured to a point that enables him to live with his fame. Surely, he can concede that the joke was a questionable one at best and that NBC was only trying to protect him. It has been said, rightfully, I believe, that Paar is his own worst enemy—and, I might add, his best publicity man. However, NBC isn't blameless in this. They allowed Paar to go after they cracked down on Bob Hope and others. They let Paar get away with TV's bluest jokes for years. With such leniency, Paar naturally began to believe that the network rules applied only to early-hour TV shows and not to his show. The sudden lowering of the boom came as a greater shock to him than it might have if the leniency did not exist.

After all that Paar has been allowed to get away with, in terms of material, it ill behooves him to cry "foul" when they take just one joke away, however. As a comedian, he could show more of a sense of humor. Anyhow, the battle lines are drawn. The issue is—who is running the network, Paar or Kintner?

The latest edition of "The Revlon Revue" on CBS-TV Thursday night showed no improvement over the first in the series.

Only the names were different. Instead of Mickey Rooney introducing the acts, Jackie Cooper did the job. He brought on Jeanne, the dancer, Lionel Hampton, who has had some very feeble comedy lines, Connie Francis and Bob Crewe, two young singers. It's becoming a Thursday night edition of the Ed Sullivan Show.

Paar Hopes to Leave on Vacation

NEW YORK (AP)— Jack Paar says he hopes to leave today or Tuesday for a long vacation in South America. When he gets back, he says, he'll meet with officials of the National Broadcasting Co.

Announcer Hugh Downs will appear tonight as master of ceremonies of Paar's television show. The comedian walked out during the show Thursday night, furious because NBC had cut one of his jokes off the program the night before.

Paar said then he wouldn't return to the show, despite his contract with NBC. Sunday he said: "I still hope I don't have to go back to the 'Tonight' show. But I don't want to be sued."

NBC apologized to Paar for not notifying him in advance that the joke had been edited out of his taped program. But the network defended its right to make the deletion. NBC said the joke was in bad taste.

At his Bronxville, N.Y., home, Paar said: "I'm going to fly to South America either Monday or Tuesday."

NBC reportedly receives a gross income of 10 million dollars annually from the Paar show. The star is believed to be paid about $4,100 a week. "I don't think the show will last long unless they get somebody to take over," Paar said. "Already, I'm told, some of the sponsors are anxious and the talent is quitting. Genevieve has quit. Charley Weaver—Cliff Arquette—has quit and I don't want anything to happen to Jose Melis."

Paar said he hopes his vacation will last "a good long time." He said he planned to move around often to avoid further comment during the South American trip.

Police Bolk at Gift
BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — City policemen have rebelled at the custom of giving retiring high brass a $1,000 gift.
Police Commissioner James M. Hepleon announced Thursday the five-year old practice would be discontinued.
It wasn't anything personal against Inspector William E. T. for, for whom police officials planned a retirement gift. But many patrolmen asked why they should be contributing from their $3,000 a year salary to an inspector retiring on $6,500 a year. Clerks, who also were expected to kick in, make only $3,300.

THE LADY AND THE GIANT

By Clarence Budington Kelland

CHAPTER XXX

Again and again, Lottie and I tried to reach a solution of this mystery by reasoning.
"Why," I asked again and again, "should a woman who owns stocks and bonds amounting to millions, as Madam seems to do, be borrowing and hiding away such incredible sums of money?"
"If people borrow money, they have to pay it back. What happens when these banks demand payment of Madam's loans?"
"Why," I said, "she has plenty of money to pay."
"Stupid!" she exclaimed. "If Madam means to use the money in your safe to pay back loans, why did she borrow it at all, and not use it? And why does she hide it away? It's silly to think she help envisioning the results of such would borrow all that money and a thing, especially in this day of hard it just to pay it back when financial stringency. The results her notes tell due."
"Then," I said, "suppose you Madam would leave behind her a dreadful mess of bankrupt banks and beggared depositors.

"Orrin," Lottie said, and one would not believe that so dainty a girl could be so grim and determined. "It's time we stuck in our thumb and pulled out the plum. High time."

With caution, we entered the building, where my office was and climbed the dark stairs. I fumbled for the keyhole and got the door open, and we entered like burglars. By the light of a single match, which Lottie held for me, I opened the safe and scooped its contents into a large carphag which I had concealed under my overcoat. We were breathless. I closed the safe door and twiddled the knob, and there we were in the darkness, Lottie and I, with nearly a million dollars on our hands.

"We are doing the right thing," Lottie whispered to reassure herself.
"If I didn't think so," I whispered back sharply, "I wouldn't be doing it. But right now I can feel Oscar's fingers throttling me."
Now I don't know why I said that or what put the thought into my mind, but, it came to me that Oscar had a stranger's hands, and that the gaunt man with the death's head was the one who had already killed two men for reasons best known to himself. I wondered why he had used his fingers instead of throwing a knife.

Ten minutes buffeting the storm brought us to the basin and the spot where Lizzie Ann was tied. Smoke rose from the chimney and a welcome light gleamed below. We did not shout, as we usually did, but clambered aboard and rapped on the door.
"Who's there?" demanded a charliss Wheelright.
"Lottie and Orrin!" I called back.

The door was jerked open and warm air fragrant with the aroma of fresh-baked bread welcomed us. "And what," demanded Captain Wheelright, "be you youngsters doin' aboard on such a night?"
"It don't matter a mite," said Zach's woman, "what fetches 'em. They're welcome as posies in May."

"Still yourself, woman," he said. She kissed Lottie, calling her "Lizzie Ann," as was her custom, and we seated ourselves near the roaring stove.
"We're bringing you trouble," Lottie said.
"Ye fetched it to the right market," said Maw Wheelright promptly. "Troubles we've learnt to endure, be they ourn or another's. Has your trouble to do with that there carpetbag?"
"Yes," said I. "We've come to entrust it to you, Cap'n Zach. It holds close onto a million dollars."
"I swan to man!" the big man exclaimed. "That's a heap of cash, Orrin. How'd ye come by it?"
"How he came by it," interrupted Maw Wheelright, sitting like a wren on its perch, "hain't no concern of ourn, Zach. All we need know is what the lad craves for us to do with it."
"It's a long and puzzling story," I said to them.

"Has this here howdy-do got subin to do with that there fancy woman?" he asked gently.
"Fancy woman" was a term I would not have applied to Madam Janevay, so aristocratic and dignified and beautiful, but I did not quarrel with Zach's use of the word.
"It has to do with Madam Janevay," I replied.
"The woman and me has argued over her," Zach said. "We come to conclusions."
"What conclusions did you come to?" I asked.
"We got our minds made up," said Maw Wheelright, "that she's Jezebel in sheep's clothing. And that man of hers comes smokin' from the pit."

HENS HAPPY ABOUT FEED, GIVE OWNER $3,600 BONUS

Among many pointers in this operation is how to make formula feed produce more eggs. Here's the story from Cyanamid.

This ranch makes money! It's the 71-acre ranch of Mr. Daniel J. Bakke of Turlock, California. Mr. Bakke runs a big business in buying and brooding quality chicks, carrying 25,000 laying hens for market eggs, producing turkey hatching eggs, poultry and turkey meat.

Says Mr. Bakke: "In an operation like this, good management, sanitation and feeding are all important. And for me, AUREOMYCIN® in my standard feed is essential to all three. Here's what I mean: AUREOMYCIN improves my feed and assures better health, less mortality and more production through better feed conversion. AUREOMYCIN also aids sanitation by lowering the disease level on my ranch. All of this leads to improvement in my entire management operation."

Controls disease, improves production

Mr. Bakke supplies figures. He says: "I conservatively estimate the value of AUREOMYCIN in maintaining high egg production at about $300 each month ($3,600 yearly)...and that's over the cost of the antibiotic. My laying hens really like to eat the mash containing AUREOMYCIN. They eat better, look better, lay better. We get a longer, more even lay and better shell quality. The big reason for this, of course, is the better health provided by AUREOMYCIN. We maintain a 50-gram level of AUREOMYCIN per ton of feed as a disease preventative, particularly against CRD and blue comb."

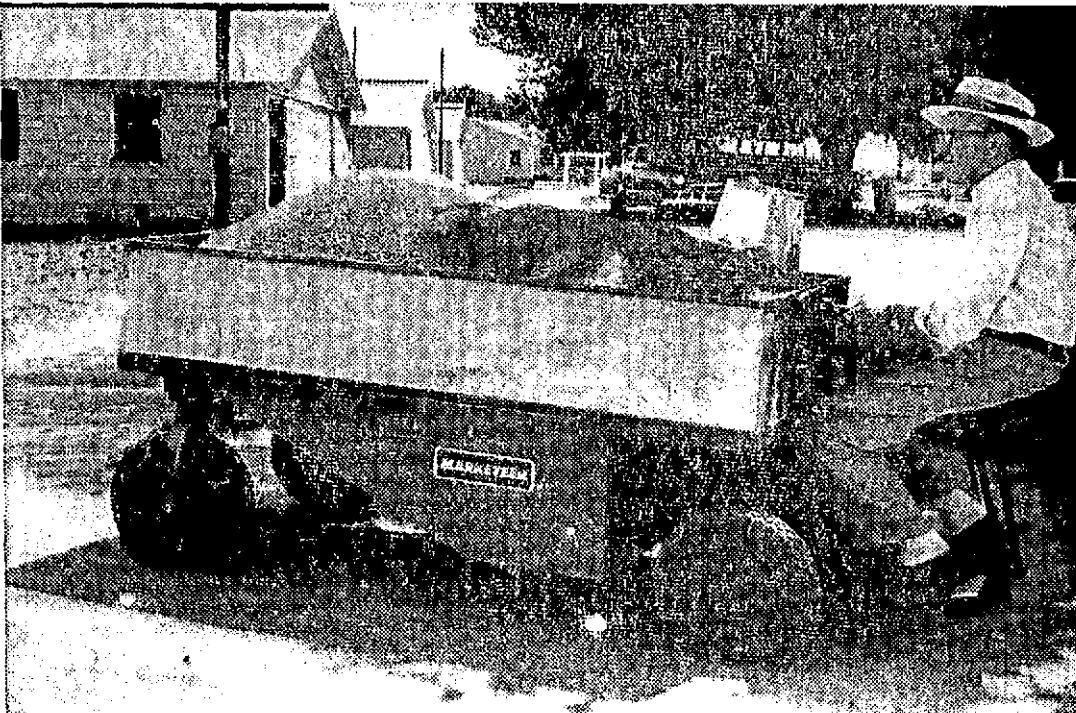

All flocks get Aureomycin

Mr. Bakke first learned of AUREOMYCIN 5 years ago through the State of California laboratory in Turlock. He started using it then and continues to use it for his chickens, laying hens and turkey flocks. The formula for Mr. Bakke's laying mash consists of soybean meal, protein elements such as fish meal and bone and meat scraps, grain, vitamins and AUREOMYCIN. The quantity of each item (except AUREOMYCIN) is figured on an IBM computer at the feed mill, resulting in costs savings per ton of feed.

Why Aureomycin gives better feed conversion
AUREOMYCIN is the wide-spectrum antibiotic that combats harmful

"Protection against stresses, CRD and blue comb keeps lay up to 75% and more. AUREOMYCIN is the answer. We also use it for young chicks and for our turkey flocks."

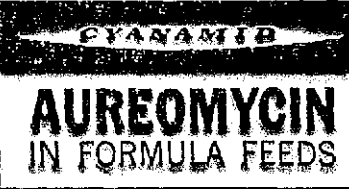

Mr. Bakke operates electric cart holding 1000 lbs. feed. "I figure that AUREOMYCIN costs us about 1¢ per bird per month...and pays for itself many times over."

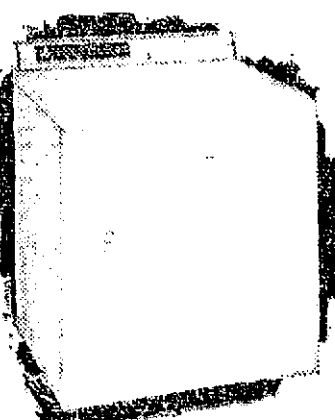

bacteria. It helps prevent stresses and invisible, sub-clinical diseases that use up feed energy. It is particularly effective against CRD and blue comb. Flocks don't waste feed fighting disease—they use it to produce more.

If you want to build up the health and productive capacity of your laying hens, talk to your feed manufacturer or feed dealer.

Ask for feeds containing AUREOMYCIN. American Cyanamid Company, Agricultural Division, New York 20, N. Y. AUREOMYCIN is an American Cyanamid Company's trademark for chlorotetracycline.
